Pamster Update Rundown #1

The Artiste In Moi!

Greatly inspired by Pacita Abad's "circles", I painted my own version and it turned out to be not bad at all. For a first try, I should say it was "fantastic!". I'm experimenting on cheap acrylic for now but if I find that the medium suits me I guess I won't think twice in investing on best quality materials. Any Suggestions for all ya painters out there?! yuhoo!

IT's All 'Bout LiFe!!!

November nineteen to December 7

just before the encounter at Pacita Abad's home with her hubby Jack: Pasko Na!!!

Filipino artist, world-renowned painter Pacita Abad, has passed away due to cancer of the lungs last Dec. 8, but her legacy continues... & her beauty remains showcased in her magnificent works of art. Do you see that "Painted Bridge"? That's simply Pacita! She definitely inspires me to push the boundaries of what seems possible!

This is free-spirited Pacita in 1984. Jus love this pic.
