Pacita's Paintings

Here's good news for the admirers of the works of Pacita Abad, and others so inclined: a double treat. Simultaneous exhibits of her new works will take place at Ayala Museum (Feb. 1 - 28, Tuesdays through Sundays, 10 a.m.-6 p.m.) and at Luz Gallery (Feb. 1 - 21, Mondays through Saturdays, same time).

The Washington, D.C.-based artist will exhibit a collection of more than 50 small paintings in trapunto, a technique which she has continuously developed, as well as numerous works on paper using a wide variety of materials like buttons, tiny mirrors, glass, gold threads, shells, beads, embroidery and fabrics.

ABAD

Here are a few details about this extremely creative woman (who was, by the way, named one of the Ten Outstanding Young Men of the Philippines in 1984). She represented the Philippines at the following International exhibitions: La Bienal de la Habana in Cuba in 1986; Unesco's 40 Years with a travelling show in 15 museums in Europe and Asia in 1987; Olympiad of Art in conjunction with the 24th Olympics in Seoul, Korea, in 1988; and the International Art Show for the End of World Hunger in Europe in 1988-89.
